Adjacent Neighbor Opposition

Preserving Long-Standing Residential Character:

The neighborhood has maintained large-acre homes with residential covenants for over 35 years, aligned with the existing R-7.5 zoning.

R-80 Allows Incompatible Uses:

Rezoning to R-80 would permit disruptive uses (event venues, kennels, RV parks) that conflict with the area's established residential character.

Traffic and Safety Issues:

Ess Road's narrow design cannot safely support the higher traffic that R-80 uses would generate.

History of Noncompliance:

The applicant has built unpermitted structures, raising concerns that R-80 would weaken oversight and allow further incompatible development.

Unified Neighborhood Opposition:

Residents formally protested the rezoning at a public meeting on February 18, 2025, and plan to submit a Formal Protest Petition prior to the City Council hearing.
