Vaping and access to flavored nicotine products has substantially improved my physical health. This bill would almost certainly push me and many others back to smoking. The bill claims as its goal to limit the exposure of young people to tobacco products but takes no account of the autonomy of adult consumers. We are allowed to have flavored alcohol, to gamble, and to engage in various other risky behaviors with no positive externalities, but you would draw the line at products that help us avoid smoking. This bill is an insult to your constituents and should be soundly rejected.
