Executive Summary

Establishing a Sister City relationship between Kansas City and Accra, Ghana and authorizing the Mayor to execute an agreement with the Mayor of Accra and take any other appropriate measures necessary to formalize and implement this Sister City relationship.

Discussion

Kansas City is a globally connected city with a strong tradition of international partnerships that strengthen economic growth, cultural exchange, and community development; and Accra, Ghana is a major economic, cultural, and innovation hub in West Africa, serving as Ghana's capital city and a gateway for international commerce, technology, education, and tourism. Kansas City and Accra share key similarities as regional economic anchors, centers for entrepreneurship, vibrant arts and music communities, and diverse populations that contribute to each city's cultural identity and global outlook. Both cities are investing in workforce development, technology, infrastructure, and small business growth as part of their long term strategies for economic competitiveness. A Sister City relationship between Kansas City and Accra will create new pathways for trade, business development, educational partnerships, cultural exchange, tourism, and innovation that benefit residents and businesses in both cities.

The Mayor of Accra, has formally expressed interest in entering into a Sister City partnership with Kansas City and in building a strong, collaborative relationship between the two cities. Community leaders, business owners, and residents in Kansas City are forming the Kansas City Ghana Committee, a civic and cultural partnership group committed to supporting and sustaining this Sister City relationship through exchanges, programming, and economic engagement.
