RESOLUTION NO. TMP-5571

Directing the City Manager to establish a citywide workforce development pipeline initiative (the “Initiative”) by engaging with key multi-sector workforce stakeholders to align and expand career opportunities for Kansas City residents; identifying interested stakeholders to provide input on the Initiative; further directing the City Manager to develop a comprehensive workforce needs and asset assessment and report back to Council within 120 days; coordinating the City’s involvement in the North American Workforce Initiative (NAWI); and directing the City Manager to prepare an implementation plan, timeline, and funding strategy for the Initiative within 180 days.

WHEREAS, the City of Kansas City, Missouri recognizes that workforce development is essential to promoting economic mobility, reducing poverty, and ensuring the City’s continued competitiveness; and

WHEREAS, an inclusive and effective workforce development ecosystem requires coordinated investments in supportive infrastructure—particularly round-the-clock childcare, affordable workforce housing, and reliable transportation. Kansas City’s 24-hour economy includes critical sectors such as manufacturing, healthcare, logistics, IT, and public safety, which require workers across all three shifts; and

WHEREAS, local chambers of commerce, including but not limited to the Greater Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, the Northland Chamber, Hispanic Chamber, Heartland Black Chamber, South KC Chamber, LGBTQ Chamber, Black Chamber, Asian American Chamber, and Prospect Business Association represent a broad spectrum of businesses and can guide employer engagement and industry alignment; and

WHEREAS, Kansas City’s higher education institutions, including the University of Missouri–Kansas City (UMKC), Metropolitan Community College (MCC), Rockhurst University, and others, provide the postsecondary training, credentialing, and research capacity to support long-term career development; and

WHEREAS, Kansas City’s largest employers in healthcare, construction, logistics, advanced manufacturing, information technology, education, and public service have a critical role in offering internships, apprenticeships, and employment opportunities; and

WHEREAS, workforce preparation begins well before adulthood, and Kansas City benefits from strong partners in Real World Learning Centers, Manual Career & Technical

Center, Herndon Career Center, and the Northland Workforce Development Center who serve youth and young adults with career pathways, certifications, and hands-on training; and

WHEREAS, research consistently shows that access to meaningful employment and living-wage jobs is directly linked to reductions in crime and improvements in public safety; cities with strong workforce development systems experience lower rates of violence and recidivism, as employment provides economic stability, purpose, and alternatives to criminal activity—demonstrating that investment in workforce pipelines is also an investment in safer communities; and

WHEREAS, the North American Workforce Initiative (NAWI), a collaborative effort between the United States, Mexico, and Canada, offers Kansas City a unique opportunity to pilot high-skill workforce development strategies that can strengthen regional competitiveness and attract global investment; NOW, THEREFORE,
